The Daily Courant.

Saturday, August 14. 1714.

From the Scots Courant, dated Aug. 6.

Edinburgh, August 5.

THIS Day we had an Account by Express, that Her Majesty Queen Anne died on Sunday the 1st of August at 6 a-Clock in the Morning, at Her Palace at Kensington; and the same Night our Sovereign King George was proclaimed Her Successor in the Royal Dignity, at London; and this Day the City Trained-bands being all in Arms, lined the Streets from the Parliament-House to the Cross, betwixt 12 and 1, the Lyon King at Arms, with the Herald and Pursuivants in their Coats, proceeded to the Cross (Trumpets sounding before them) and were followed by the Right Honourable the Lord-Provost, Bailies, and City-Council, in their Robes, to a Theatre erected at the Cross for that Purpose, where likewise his Grace the Duke of Montrose, with a great Number of the Nobility, the Lords of Session, Barons of Exchequer, the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, with many of the Gentry, came, where they heard his Majesty King George proclaimed King of Great-Britain, France, and Ireland, when the Castle fired a full Round, as did the City-Guard three Volleys of Small-shot, the whole Company expressing their Joy by loud Huzzas: And from thence the Lyon King at Arms, Herald, Pursuivants, &c. went to the Castle-Gate, where His Majesty was likewise proclaimed, as he was at his Palace of Holy-rood-House, the Pier and Shoar of Leith: And the Night concluded with ringing of Bells, Illuminations, and all other Demonstrations of Joy, without the least Disorder or Disturbance: His Majesty's Forces being all the Time under Arms near His Majesty's Palace, where they are encamped, and fired several Volleys of Great and Small-shot.

Edinburgh, Aug. 6. This Morning about 6, his Grace the Duke of Montrose, one of the Regents, set out from this Place for London.

From the Dublin Gazette, dated Aug. 7.

Dublin, Aug. 7. Yesterday about four of the Clock in the Afternoon arrived here an Express from the Lords of the Privy-Council of Great-Britain, to the Lords-Justices, with the Melancholly Account of Her Majesty's Death, of the 1st Instant; and that the High and Mighty Prince George, Elector of Brunswick-Lunenbourg was that Day proclaimed King of Great-Britain, France and Ireland, &c. the Lords-Justices and Council immediately met, and about 7 of the Clock their Excellencies, assisted by the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Numbers of Gentlemen of Quality, and attended by the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Dublin, the King at Arms, the Officers attending the State, the Company of Band-Ax-Guards, and a Squadron of Horse, proceeded to the Castle-Gate, and caused His Majesty to be proclaimed there, and at the Tholsel, and the other usual Places in this City, with great Solemnity, and then returned to the Castle, where the great Guns were fired three Rounds, and answered by Volleys of Small-shot from the Regiments drawn up on College-Green, and the Evening concluded with ringing of Bells, Bonfires, Illuminations, and other Demonstrations of Joy.

By the Lords Justices and Council of w
Ireland,

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God to call to His Mercy our late Sovereign Lady Queen Anne, of blessed Memory, by whose Decease the Imperial Crowns of Great-Britain, France and Ireland, are Solely and Rightfully come to the High and Mighty Prince George Elector of Brunswick-Lunenbourg: We the Lords-Justices of this Kingdom, and several of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal of this Realm, being assisted with those of Her late Majesty's Privy-Council, and Numbers of other Principal Gentlemen of Quality, with the Lord-Mayor, Aldermen, and Citizens of Dublin, do, with one full Voice and Consent of Tongue and Heart, Publish and Proclaim, That the High and Mighty Prince George Elector of Brunswick-Lunenbourg, is now, by the Death of our late Sovereign of happy Memory, become our only lawful and Rightful Liege Lord, George, by the Grace of God, King of Great-Britain, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c. To whom we do acknowledge all Faith and constant Obedience, with all hearty and humble Affection: Beseeching God, by whom Kings and Queens do Reigne, to bless the Royal King George, with long and happy Years to Reigne over us. And we do by this our Proclamation think fit to give publick Notice hereof to all His Majesty's Subjects, and do require all Mayors, Sheriffs, and other His Majesty's Officers, to cause the same to be proclaimed in all the Cities and Towns Corporate, and Market-Towns in this Kingdom, and all Officers, both Civil and Military, and other His Majesty's Subjects, are to be assisting in the performance hereof, with all due Solemnity.

Given at the Council Chamber in Dublin-Castle, the Sixth Day of August,

Will. Dublin, Kildare, Abercorn, W. Kildare, Shelburne, Cha. Feilding, P. Savage, W. Stuart, Tho. Keighly, Sam. Dopping.

GOD Save the KING.

London, August 14.

Yesterday Morning Mr. Craggs arrived from Hanover, and delivered to the Lords Justices a Letter from the King, the Contents of which their Excellencies have communicated to the Parliament. We hear His Majesty proposes to set out from Hanover on Wednesday next, and to travel with all convenient Expedition, so as to arrive at the Hague on the Saturday following: His Majesty may very probably make some Stop at the Hague, upon Affairs of Importance; but 'tis reckoned he will be here a Fortnight hence at furthest. 'Tis said his Royal Highness the Prince comes with his Majesty. M. Borsele, Envoy extraordinary from the States-General to the Court of Great-Britain, arrived here Yesterday Morning. The Officers of the Green-Cloth are gone to the Fleet; and Yesterday Morning the Lords Justices sent Order to the Earl of Berkeley, to sail forthwith for Holland. We are also informed, that their Excellencies have sent Order to Mr. Prior, to make the most pressing Instances to the Court of France, to cause Hostilities against Barcelona to cease.

The Speech of the Lords-Justices, delivered by the Lord Chancellor to both Houses of Parliament, on Friday the Thirteenth Day of August, 1714.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

IT is with great Satisfaction We can now tell you, That We have this Morning received a Letter from the King, wherein His Majesty is graciously pleased to acquaint Us, That His Majesty is hastening hither, to employ his utmost Care for putting these Kingdoms into a happy and flourishing Condition.

He has commanded Us, in the mean time, to continue Our Care of every thing that may conduce to the Peace and Safety of His Dominions: And We are assured, That if this had required His more immediate Presence, He would, without the least Delay, have repaired hither for the Support of so Dutiful and Faithful Subjects: For His Majesty does very particularly express His great Satisfaction in the Loyalty and Affection which His People have universally shewn upon His Majesty's Accession to the Crown.

At the Opening this Session, We did not mention to you the Apprehensions We then had, from the smallness of the Sum at that time Advanced, that the Lottery would not be full, being desirous, in the first Place, to try to make it effectual in the Manner the Parliament had Established it; but We are obliged now to acquaint you, That all Our Endeavours have failed of the desired Success, though the Contributions have been thereby considerably Encreased.

We must therefore earnestly recommend to you, Gentlemen of the House of Commons, to take this into your Consideration, and to give such further Encouragement, as you shall think proper, for Raising the whole Sum which was intended, and is absolutely necessary for Carrying on the Service of the Year.
